IMPORTANCE OF EASE OF CHECKOUT

70% of consumers want to know all delivery costs up front i.e. no surprises at time of delivery. Providing customers with a simplified checkout process is important when selling cross-border.

With 85% of the world’s purchasing power being outside of the United States and an expected $4.8 trillion of e-commerce sales by 2021, merchants must consider the positive impact of providing a simplified checkout process to drive conversions.

Research indicates that cross-border consumers prefer a domestic-like experience where shipping costs including any additional fees, duties or taxes are visible up front.

Some of the reasons why consumers abandon the checkout include:

Shoppers prefer to pay in local currency: In Canada, 27% of shoppers have abandoned a shopping cart from an overseas seller due to this reason. In Italy, this number is closer to 42%. Consumers are savvy, if the product is available both internationally and domestically they will typically compare prices for the best deal. Providing visibility of any extra fees payable supports the consumer buying decision.

Consumers want an easy online shopping experience: Checkout optimization can increase conversions by 36%. Providing a seamless shopping experience free of surprises at time of delivery will result in reduced returns and shipment refusal by consumers, as well as repeat business. Providing transparency of any fees supports the consumer buying decision.

High extra costs (Shipping, Tax, Fees): 60% of consumers don’t complete their purchase due to high cost shipping options. Cross-border consumers prefer multiple service levels and costs to meet their delivery needs.

The DHL Duty & Tax Calculator is an easy-to-use technology solution that supports your international growth strategy by presenting your customer with a clear and accurate amount of any duties, taxes and fees in the online checkout.
